2.0 BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Nyakach Constituency falls within Nyakach District/ Sub County in Kisumu County in Nyanza Province, Kenya. Nyakach is one of the six districts within the province selected by the Ministry of Planning and National Development as a pilot district for implementation of district based initiatives to fast track the achievement of the millennium development goals (MDGs). The District Headquarters is located in Pap Onditi which lies in the lower Nyakach area along Katito - Homabay road. It was established in 1966 elections when it was split from the Nyando constituency. It consists of 5 wards namely; South East Nyakach, North Nyakach, South west Nyakach, Central Nyakach and west Nyakach. Nyakach constituency borders Nyando Constituency to the North, Rachuonyo Constituency to the South, Kisumu east constituency to the West and Belgut Constituency to the East. The constituency is divided in twenty two (22) administrative locations. The shorelines of the constituency to the to the South west touches lake victoria The Constituency lies along the Lake Victoria which is the second largest fresh water lake in the World. It lies between the latitude 0°00' (the equator) and 0° 25'South and between longitude 34° 45' east and 35° 21' west. The constituency covers an area of 358.6 km<sup>2</sup> including approximately 71km<sup>2</sup> of the lake water surface. The constituency has 2 contrasting terrains; a vast flat lower part which stretches in the middle of the constituency and a hilly terrain stretches to the northwest and the south.

3.0 STRATEGIC PLAN MID - TERM REVIEW

The Nyakach constituency strategic plan for the period 2018-2022 in April 2021 underwent a mid-term review in April 2021. The thematic areas findings are herein summarised.

3.1 Institutional Capacity

Nyakach constituency has built the institutional capacity for the delivery of the strategies identified through the strategic plan. This has been done, through continuous capacity building through training needs assessments (TNA), and other identified gaps during the implementation. The constituency has also structures and systems that facilitate achievement of targets and organizational performance. The constituency has a governance and management structure with duties and responsibilities according to the CDF ACT 2015 which is complementary and supports the delivery of strategies and commitments.

The Constituency has also made use of technocrats from the national government officers such as public works officer, procurement and supply chain, social development and protection, trade, environmental, youth and sports officers to develop the technical expertise, documentation and supervision of projects during the implementation of the strategic plan.

3.2 Public participation

Constitution of Kenya 2010, provided a framework for implementation and decision that affect Kenyan citizen, public participation provided an opportunity for participation, inclusion and involvement of the public in governance and development within government projects and interventions. Nyakach constituency identified public participation as a strategy for the implementation of its strategic plan 2018 - 2022. The constituency adopted a bottom up approach as a way of generating community priorities and projects within the implementation framework for its strategic plan. During the review process, projects have been identified by the community through proposals which are coordinated by the CDF committee at the ward and village level and forwarded to the board for consideration and funding as per the available guidelines and funding framework. This has ensured sustainability and impact generation for the projects and initiatives by the CDF.

3.3 Intervention implementation

National government CDF Board has been the main source of funding for the Nyakach Constituency Fund strategic plan implementation. During the review period the funding provided has been consistent although inadequate. The sectorial analysis as per the strategic plan targets;

4.0 THE WARD MEETINGS AND REPORTS

The views and aspirations of the public are presented in table 3.1 from the ward meetings held in the constituency in the month of August 2020. The public participation revealed that we need over kshs 540,000,000 (five hundred forty million) for projects to cover the two financial years for which the report is valid. The constituency committee will draw projects to be submitted to the board for funding from the list. The stakeholders further requested the central committee to prioritize the purchase of school desks in each of the financial years to mitigate the spread of the covid-19 pandemic. The supply of more desks is envisaged to enhance social distancing in the classrooms.
